Happy Friday 😊

I happen to be a huge Disney fan. I saw a quote this week from the movie Cinderella and it made me think of our current situation. So much has changed, so many things are different and with that comes many different emotions. Many of us are grieving. Grieving what once was, what may be different in the future, missing our loved ones, not being able to reach out and touch our Mother's on Mother's Day. So much has changed in such a short time.

I find the words of Cinderella reassuring. If we keep believing, dreams do come true. There will be a time when we will hug our Mother's again, a time when we will be able to be together again physically. And that is a dream worth continuing to believe in. I know quoting a Disney Princess might seem a little sappy, but I think her statement holds true. Stay focused, keep dreaming, even on the days when life seems insurmountable, keep dreaming!

“No matter how your heart is grieving, if you keep on believing, the dream that you wish will come true.” - Cinderella

MOTHER'S DAY

It happened, we had a Mother's Day while we were in quarantine. I was so touched to see all the love pouring out from each of you to your Mother's. Thank you so much for being creative in the ways you reached out and for taking time in all this madness to remember your Mother. Each of our Mother's felt surrounded by your love.

THE VIRTUAL WORLD

Some of you have had the pleasure of being the recipients of a new trend here at Odd Fellows. We have entered the virtual world and we have taken our residents along for the journey. We have been busy making Face Time and Skype visits between our residents and their loved ones. We have several iPads we are currently using with more on the way thanks to a generous grant we received. If you would like to be included in these virtual visits, please reach out and let one of our staff know. We are scheduling the visits so as to be able to reach everyone and have staff available to help during the call.
